

SECTION A

1. An electric wire used to connect two parts of a computer system is

- _____.
- a. Cable
 - b. Wire
 - c. Strings
 - d. Connectors

2. A monitor displays the words that you type on a keyboard. What operation is this display of information called?

- a. Input
- b. Process
- c. Output
- d. Storage

3. Which of the following is an operating system (OS)

- a. Microsoft Word
- b. Microsoft Windows
- c. Microsoft Power Point
- d. Microsoft Excel

4. The text or graphics we cut or copy goes to _____.

- a. read only memory
- b. clipboard
- c. recycle bin
- d. desktop

5. A megabyte is approximately _____.

- a. one billion bytes
- b. one hundred bytes
- c. one million bytes
- d. one thousand bytes

SECTION B

Fill in the statement below with the correct words (given)

Contents, memory, access, changed, volatile, temporarily, random, programs

RAM stand for _____ memory. RAM is the computer's "working memory" where it stores the _____ and data that are being used at any given time. The contents of RAM can be _____ because it only stores program and data _____. When the computer is turned off, the _____ of RAM are lost. This sort of memory which is wiped clean when the computer is turned off is called _____.

SECTION C

1. What is a motherboard?

2. State the three components of CPU.

a. _____

b. _____

c. _____

3. List two example of Internet Services Provider in Brunei Darussalam.

a. _____

b. _____

4. What do the following acronyms stand for?

a. WWW: _____

b. HTML: _____

5. What type of network is used to link computers in the following locations?

i. a school building: _____.

ii. ASEAN countries: _____.